COLORADO SPRINGS GAZETTE.

NUMBER 1167. COLORADO SPRINGS, COLO. SATURDAY AUGUST 27, 1887. PRICE FIVE CENTS.

A LITTLE FIGHT.

Kenyon Reported to Have Had an Engagement.

One of his Posse Killed and the Rest Wounded.

Major Lawson's Report of his Meeting with Colonel Cowan.

Miners Having a Hard Time but in Good Spirits.

DENVER, Col., Aug. 26.—The Republican's correspondent here [illegible] Colonel Cowan, [illegible] Chief Lawson [illegible] Phil Foote and a citizen [illegible] Lawson's men [illegible] twenty miles up Pine river [illegible] by the Indians and [illegible] escape. They [illegible] look at the bodies which [illegible] Pine and fired at [illegible] who [illegible] Chief Lawson [illegible]

HESPERUS—Captain Dawson [illegible] Ranger front, but he [illegible] to shoot. He [illegible] which he left Major [illegible] 25th, on the 26th the [illegible] were a hollow and the Indians [illegible] on a hill. The Utes' horses [illegible] a collection and they ran among the [illegible] as they [illegible]

MAJOR LAWSON'S REPORT.

MANCOS, August 24, via Glenwood Springs, August 25.

[illegible] T. W. Bowman, [illegible] The Colorado National Guard.

DEAR SIR:—We struck the Indians at 9 o'clock this morning. Fifteen men with one [illegible] went with Pray and [illegible] them off on one side whilst the troops with me kept on this side. At 9 o'clock we captured a horse and the camp with all the utensils and a lot of bibles. Scout Dan said a talk with Colonel Cowan and [illegible] encourages me to have a flag of truce [illegible] As Pray believes that if we try to take them they can escape too easily, being better mounted than we are, he suggests that you send down all the available forces and surround them on the other side of the hill that they are on, [illegible] as explained in his dispatch.

Since writing the foregoing I have had a conference with Colonel Cowan and Charley Pease. They [illegible] I have secured about 35 Indians, [illegible] to-day in Ute Special Lawson [illegible] Colonel Cowan in the [illegible] to-day. We have had nothing [illegible] for two days and have been [illegible] all the time but I [illegible] I believe that it is only by means [illegible] the rest of the boys. Your [illegible] servant,

[illegible] CHAS. LAWSON,
Major.

SCOUTS BRING NEWS.

Lawson says that when the Indian [illegible] was [illegible] an old squaw was [illegible] She was very old and [illegible] was much [illegible] she went to the [illegible] A small quantity of jerked meat was captured. The troops [illegible] the portable Indian food. The [illegible] horse had been badly [illegible] I went at some place, and he was [illegible] the officers for humanity's sake. When Lawson left, the fate of [illegible] on both sides [illegible] want to [illegible] Scouts [illegible] the way Ute [illegible] Indian tells Ute [illegible] make slighter [illegible] Indians make [illegible] Ignacio [illegible] No Ute [illegible]

Another Indian is said to have [illegible] in the skirmish by Kendall's [illegible] days [illegible] Utes [illegible] were forced into Phillips' ranch [illegible] Chamberlain's and held their [illegible] Lawson met Kendall and [illegible] going to the front on the afternoon of the 25th.

LAWSON'S DISPATCHES.

MANCOS, Colo., Aug. 25.—Via Glenwood Springs, August 26.—Captain [illegible] Lawson's report of his fight from the [illegible] and says: I left the Ford at 2 [illegible] August 24, with a detachment from Major Lesley to General Hatfield. I met [illegible] of narrow trenches made [illegible] front and [illegible] the same to [illegible] the boys having nothing to [illegible] After [illegible] minutes' stop I started [illegible] with my dispatches. When I [illegible] Lieutenant Hatch instructed me [illegible] the Lookout, as the [illegible] Indians into Phillips' ranch [illegible] When about to cross [illegible] Lawson found Knox [illegible] I then sent [illegible] of Indians [illegible] the left. My horse was [illegible] of the west, and as I was [illegible] I [illegible] Lieutenant quickly [illegible] the right. The Indians followed [illegible] and a few [illegible] I [illegible] the [illegible] Lieutenant [illegible] [illegible] Lieutenant [illegible] [illegible] Lieutenant [illegible]

THE GAZETTE.

PUBLISHED BY THE GAZETTE PUBLISHING CO.

DAILY IN ADVANCE.
Per annum . . . $6.00 | Per quarter . . . $1.50
Three months . . . 2.00 | One month 75

WEEKLY IN ADVANCE.
Per Year . . . $1.50 | Six months 75
Three " 50

ADVERTISING.
Rates known on application at the office.

JOB WORK.
For Plain and Fancy Job Printing equal to the best offices in the State, call at the Gazette office.

All persons having advertisements in this paper will please bear in mind that in consequence of the discontinuance of the Weekly Gazette, after this week, we shall be compelled to charge transient advertisements for one insertion the same rates as for three insertions. Yearly advertisements will be charged at the usual rates. Any complaint of unfairness in advertising accounts must be handed in not later than Thursday.

Advertisements and communications intended for this week's issue must be received before 12 o'clock Wednesday.

We are thankful for the liberal patronage we have received from the people of Colorado Springs, and hope that we may continue to merit a share of the same.

H. W. SQUIRE,
Manager of the GAZETTE.

We publish some interesting comments on the Ute war from the state papers this morning.

The News says: "It is gratifying to learn that mugwump influence has not succeeded this democratic administration from securing for democrats nine tenths of the positions of the country." The News might have put it differently and made an equally true statement. It is gratifying to learn that mugwump influence is not strong enough to prevent the democratic administration and party from dishonorably breaking the pledges it made before election.

If the situation is grave enough to demand the presence of state soldiers it is sufficient to call for the presence of the federal troops, and there ought to be no hesitation whatever in sending them in.—[Denver Times.

But—assume the situation was not grave enough for state troops. There is still a wide margin of opinion on this point. The [illegible] in Meeker. There seems to be quite a general impression that the [illegible] will more [illegible] than our state government.

An effort is being made to amend the English libel law. It has resulted in [illegible] with much that was right and just. For example, a man who was in danger of a libel suit for publishing reports of a public meeting or a trial in court, frequently, responsible papers were always compelled to revel their [illegible] to be [illegible] they contain startling [illegible] a law [illegible] Kennedy, Kennedy the Land [illegible] by an examination [illegible] for this [illegible] You [illegible] the Land [illegible] Kennedy [illegible] that this is [illegible] at that this is [illegible] for [illegible] public good and not for malice. The law usually turns on the question of intent. A paper may publish what is perfectly true [illegible] and yet be [illegible] for damages in a libel suit if it can be shown that the publication was for [illegible] good. It is customary to talk [illegible] freely about the [illegible] of the [illegible] in this country. The example is not a [illegible] one; we have simply the form of the press which no other country has yet [illegible]. This form is [illegible] in a form that [illegible] reading this libel law, [illegible] how profoundly the people are in sympathy with the [illegible] prohibitive libel of government.

The [illegible] English of the disposition of the [illegible] Secretary of the Interior, Muldrow, is this: If Colorado will censor her [illegible] [illegible] then will not interfere and [illegible] him to the reservation. But the [illegible] does not propose to be a party to [illegible] to fight and then exterminate him. We must confess that we think the [illegible] right in this matter. Our [illegible] has put us in the wrong in every application for aid to the army or the departments. It is also undeniable that the applications for assistance have been made on wild rumors circulated by irresponsible parties and which have since proved baseless. If the governor had simply posted the troops to protect the settlers and kept them out of the field and if Sheriff Kendall had continued his efforts for a reelection to the street commissionership the Ute outbreak would probably have been averted. We shall know at least the strength of the labor party in New York state. Mr. George heads the union labor ticket and his presence at the head of the ticket has inspired great enthusiasm in the labor party. The campaign will be very aggressive and the full labor vote that intends to act independently of the republican and democratic parties will be cast. The prohibitionists also will make an aggressive campaign. Both republicans and democrats will grieve very hard to prevent any of these, who have most votes, either party going out of our [illegible] issues. It will be found that the [illegible] this year is of only little [illegible] next year. Probably very few will vote either the prohibition and labor ticket this year who will not vote the same ticket next year. We shall be able, therefore, to estimate the extent of the defection of the prohibitionists from the republican party and the labor element from the democratic party. We assume that the laboring men, who will support George, have been largely [illegible] because they are [illegible] by slavery, strange to say, and [illegible] the party.

Before the war at least the democratic party was a party of classes and never appreciated the dignity of free labor because it sought to degrade it by perpetuating slave labor.

STATE PRESS ON THE UTE WAR.

The White Man's War

Ouray County Observer

If the Utes fight, it will be forced upon them by the whites. It is a white man's war, and the white man is in the wrong.

Mostly Wind.

Denver Republican

The general opinion of the people seems to be that the Ute trouble is most in wind, and that the Indians are as much frightened and bothered at the rumpus Gen. [illegible] are the Denver and Canon City troops.

Costly Business.

Denver Tribune

The people of the state, especially old timers and old soldiers, wish a breed grin whenever the Ute war is mentioned. If the "[illegible]" kept up long the taxpayers will groan on the other side of their mouths. It's costly business keeping militia around the country, to say nothing of the cost of life and limb by the accidental discharge of firearms, being kicked by outrageously broncos and falling into unprotected cellar doors.

Sensible War.

Denver Rocky Mountain News

A private letter received yesterday from Glenwood says that the newspapers are doing all of the fighting, but this is not exactly the case. It is the officers of the militia and the few privates they have taken along as servants who are carrying on this war, and they are doing it all with their mouths. The dispatches sent from Garfield county to the Denver dailies are a sweating. They fail to give any idea of the location or movements of the Utes, but contains column after column of rot about the wonderful bravery of the men at Glenwood. What this bravery is called in we are unable to learn, for it does not appear that the Indians have tested it. Colorow, with his twenty-five or thirty bucks, is undoubtedly scared and willing to do almost anything to keep out of a fight.

Interviewed Cowboys.

Denver [illegible]

The Daily [illegible] the first has said that the [illegible] troubles were [illegible] by the cowboys who had no more right on government land than the Utes whom they are trying to drive out of Garfield county and the reports have borne out the claim. The Utes are quite as well behaved as the cowboys of Garfield county and are entitled to fair treatment. The murder of an Indian is as culpable as that of a white man and should receive the same punishment. The English (thieves) have large herds of cattle on [illegible] in this country and have a right to do so but to slaughter them for their murder [illegible] be [illegible] on this account. The [illegible] would be allowed as much justice in a court as the other. [illegible] the laws are the same, under the law, and are, therefore, not blameworthy for not submitting to it. The people of Colorado can afford to [illegible] from Uncle Sam, whereas the Utes cannot put the [illegible] in the treasury, but they cannot put the [illegible] of the Utes or anybody else.

Cost of the War.

Rocky Mountain News

It is a strange fact that Governor Adams who so studiously refused nearly every bill reported by the general assembly on the ground of "economy," should without any just cause, and in direct opposition to the state's orders, put the state militia for the purpose of putting down an Indian war which [illegible] existed. When a bill is made to appropriate a small sum for the relief of the settlers who have been driven from their homes by the Indians, Governor Adams lost sight of this point in [illegible] to [illegible] Rowlens as Official Wire, Bob [illegible] and Jo. Pritchard, and [illegible] powers [illegible] of the Utes, [illegible] ers from one hundred to one hundred and fifty [illegible] thus far, and [illegible] if a war [illegible] be precipitated.

The cost to this state in employing the alleged Ute war (?) or punishing old Colorow and his fifteen bucks for violation of the game law will be [illegible] one hundred thousand dollars!

If Sheriff Wire or Sheriff Kendall is so anxious for gore, why did not the governor simply give him and those who volunteered to follow him, plenty of good rifles and ammunition and let him sail in.

The Ute War.

Special to the New York World

The regular form of annual Indian [illegible] known as the Ute outbreak has [illegible] and the [illegible] about the war question and other current items. As a matter of fact the Utes have done more to make newspaper life desirable than "Constant Reader," "Veritas," and "Taxpayer" all put together. You can always [illegible] on a Ute outbreak, and write it up when you feel like it, as long beforehand as you wish, and the Ute will not ask you to retract.

Old man Colorow is like the regular army. He is brave, but he hasn't got help enough. He is a man of great nerve and enjoys carnage, provided it is furnished by some one else. He is said by those who have met him to be a low set man, with a powder burned face and a desire to outlive as many whitemen as possible.

But the Utes are not strong enough to do any special damage, and it is very likely they have no special notion of it. They are a tamely set and still they are not likely to break out.

It has been customary to have an Indian scare in the Rocky mountains every year until it is almost indispensable. For several years, also, the circus was kept out of Wyoming territory by a high license which amounted to prohibition, and if the people of Wyoming hadn't had an Indian scare that they could turn to they would have suffered.

The Indian is the nation's ward, kind of a doubtful ward, as it were—but he's a great boon to the newspaper man, who naturally gets tired of pool and prophesying this season and comes for almost anything that will give him a chance. It is safe to say that the Ute outbreak will turn out, on close investigation, to be nothing worse than prickly heat.

It is not presumable even much to say that Indian life will be perfectly safe as far west as St. Louis and even those who [illegible] on the Indiana state line will be [illegible] to the extent of being killed by Indians if they will exchange by Saturday night.

Indians are not so ferocious as some suppose them to be anyway. We have seen the Indians of Buffalo Bill and they were very pleasant to meet. They are not intellectual, of course, and want to eat, and look elevation all the time, when they were in camp, but they were behaved well and were the freshest beer. It is claimed that by another year the average Sioux or Apache will [illegible] and [illegible] and [illegible] and

THE BABY FINANCIER.

PEN PICTURE OF HENRY S. IVES AND HIS PARTNERS

A Look at the Boy Who Cuts Coupons for $25,000,000—What a Wall Street Man Says of Him and His Future—From Bell Boy to Banker.

[Special Correspondence.]

New York, Aug. [illegible]

[illegible] Wall street [illegible] Broadway and [illegible] Rector street [illegible] Central park here [illegible] day. It lays [illegible] hundred [illegible] Of the dark [illegible] glowery [illegible] Crimea. [illegible] gilt, and [illegible] Looked [illegible] Lucky [illegible] interest [illegible] general [illegible] narrow, high [illegible] which was taken up with [illegible] the counter, leaving only a narrow aisle at the west. At the end of this desk is the private room of the bank, and as I wanted [illegible] I came and [illegible] most talked of men in New York. Henry S. Ives, the boy who has just failed for from $15,000,000 to $20,000,000, about talking with [illegible] Cregg. H. Stayner, [illegible] Tom C. Dix.

A curious group it was. Stayner, stout, red and pudgy, with a very straight part in his [illegible] and with a shake now and then of his high white [illegible] wrinkled his [illegible] a thousand [illegible] as Ives apparently [illegible] and down the plan of action to be pursued. He [illegible] to all that Ives said in a fussy, [illegible] way, and looked about restlessly with his dull, [illegible] eyes. He was the most [illegible] man of the group, and his behavior [illegible] in contrast to that of the two boys who [illegible] his partners.

Tom Dix, who [illegible] I took him, [illegible] one of the [illegible] men in New York. He is six feet one inch in height and [illegible] and his large frame is [illegible] padded with [illegible] flesh. He looks older than Ives, and he is probably [illegible] years of age, [illegible] the [illegible] have made him [illegible] He dresses well and lives like a lord. He is the son of Professor R. Ogden [illegible] and [illegible] as a chemist [illegible] of Dobbs, and who is well known in New York city. He is popular [illegible] the boys, and he has entertained [illegible] at his [illegible] at West [illegible] He has kept [illegible] he's half in [illegible] style. He has been brought into prominence by Ives, [illegible] told that Ives and [illegible] got big [illegible] in the Stock Exchange, from which, through Ives' [illegible] Last week [illegible] Ives [illegible] Stock Exchange, and it will be [illegible] to say that the [illegible] are on the street are not as [illegible] himself, and all of his big [illegible] on the [illegible] of the Ives [illegible] been in this case the Stock Exchange [illegible] of the firm, and it has been [illegible] to stand on the Exchange and to prove the failure of the Ives [illegible] by buying [illegible] they fell below a certain [illegible] In this way the City [illegible] and Dayton was [illegible] and Ives was [illegible] to borrow [illegible] in order [illegible] it.

But as to Ives himself. The [illegible] of his wonderful [illegible] is too well known to [illegible] repetition in detail. Nothing like it has been [illegible] in the history of finance, and it will [illegible] later it will be one of the great [illegible] of the Wall street of the future.

Born in [illegible], [illegible] and left an [illegible] receipt [illegible] of, he [illegible] to New York eight years ago, then only 20 years of age, and [illegible] as a boy for Harper [illegible] Here [illegible] and took [illegible] evil [illegible] ing, and I [illegible] when he became [illegible] and [illegible] one when he got a salary of $9 a week. He stayed with Harper three years, and left them to take a clerk's [illegible] in Wall street. He left this broker's [illegible], [illegible] and [illegible] of his own. His shingle [illegible] He [illegible] in millions and came [illegible] an age of [illegible] Jay Gould. The $9 a week [illegible] of late [illegible] a specialist in [illegible], now fails for from $15,000,000 to $20,000,000. Girard left only $7,500,000, the [illegible] fortunes of [illegible] Peabody, Astor and all [illegible] were [illegible] $100,000,000, and the men who are worth that amount today can be counted upon [illegible] fingers and toes.

Still Ives [illegible] for the [illegible] was [illegible] years old. The heartless boy clerks [illegible] pray [illegible] million names and outwork them.

* * *

It is the boy whom I saw taking [illegible] Astor and Dix [illegible]. Let me describe [illegible] as I [illegible] the [illegible] in his short sleeves as I [illegible] office with the [illegible] of the [illegible] for upon him. At first glance he is an [illegible] like [illegible] of the clerks of [illegible] Street in form, is not over five feet eight inches in height, his smooth shaved face looks more [illegible] than his years, and [illegible] only suggests [illegible] in the gold specs [illegible] nose. [illegible] straight up and [illegible] when [illegible] who likes themselves in the street cannot help [illegible] an hour above his own. He keeps [illegible] well dressed, and there was very pretty [illegible] just above his high and retreating [illegible] The parting of the hair is very [illegible] and there is a kink about it that makes you think that he might be of the Israelitish persuasion.

He has not, I think, however, any Jewish blood in him, and his general appearance is that of the [illegible] pure New Yankee. He is good looking, on the whole, and as to his features, the artist who [illegible] me [illegible] I saw him tells me that [illegible] Next [illegible] vision, and his face will [illegible] a passion [illegible] Every line about it [illegible] cate. The nose is straight, with the [illegible] inclination to the [illegible] nose, and the [illegible] thin and [illegible] The lips are [illegible] than thick, and there is a [illegible] cut [illegible] the [illegible] one [illegible] makes Mr. Ives [illegible] of self confidence. There is [illegible] about it, but not [illegible] talked every line about his [illegible] and, and seemed to say, I [illegible] and you may say what you [illegible] But doubtful I feel whether [illegible] words, but no [illegible] trouble as to [illegible] future.

His face has no lines of weakness [illegible] such [illegible] upon you. He has, so one of the [illegible] brokers of the street tells me, no bad habits, does not drink nor smoke [illegible] cess, and is not a fool in any way.

* * *

[illegible] that this man [illegible] Ives is a [illegible] fection and will [illegible] [illegible] If he is down town he will drop in at a [illegible] corner and [illegible] at [illegible] lunch with clerks and [illegible], not [illegible] more [illegible] about it than he did when he was a clerk himself. He will dine at [illegible] the [illegible] with [illegible], and the rest of the dinner [illegible] run into the [illegible] streets. He is as [illegible] as he was at the lunch counter, and he [illegible] has [illegible]

"Ives has," this man went on, "the most [illegible] self confidence of any man I have ever [illegible] He is the most [illegible] of men, and, notwithstanding [illegible] his [illegible] he has a [illegible] of men I look upon him as [illegible] to that class of men [illegible] manager, and [illegible] Ives has [illegible] and he has many [illegible] His religion, like that of [illegible] and he regards [illegible] only as to [illegible] Any

[illegible] HENRY S. IVES & CO.

[illegible] Broad [illegible] a sign on the door [illegible] no information concerning [illegible] parents would be given in the [illegible] the building, and found myself in a [illegible] narrow, high [illegible] From three-fourths of [illegible] which was taken up with [illegible] a walnut [illegible] the counters, leaving only a narrow aisle at the west. At the end of this desk is the private room of the bank, and as I wanted [illegible] I came and [illegible] most talked of men in New York. Henry S. Ives, the boy who has just failed for from $15,000,000 to $20,000,000, about talking with [illegible] Cregg. H. Stayner, [illegible] Tom C. Dix.

A curious group it was. Stayner, stout, red and pudgy, with a very straight part in his [illegible] and with a shake now and then of his high white [illegible] wrinkled his [illegible] a thousand [illegible] as Ives apparently [illegible] and down the plan of action to be pursued. He [illegible] to all that Ives said in a fussy, [illegible] way, and looked about restlessly with his dull, [illegible] eyes. He was the most [illegible] man of the group, and his behavior [illegible] in contrast to that of the two boys who [illegible] his partners.

Tom Dix, who [illegible] I took him, [illegible] one of the [illegible] men in New York. He is six feet one inch in height and [illegible] and his large frame is [illegible] padded with [illegible] flesh. He looks older than Ives, and he is probably [illegible] years of age, [illegible] the [illegible] have made him [illegible] He dresses well and lives like a lord. He is the son of Professor R. Ogden [illegible] and [illegible] as a chemist [illegible] of Dobbs, and who is well known in New York city. He is popular [illegible] the boys, and he has entertained [illegible] at his [illegible] at West [illegible] He has kept [illegible] he's half in [illegible] style. He has been brought into prominence by Ives, [illegible] told that Ives and [illegible] got big [illegible] in the Stock Exchange, from which, through Ives' [illegible] Last week [illegible] Ives [illegible] Stock Exchange, and it will be [illegible] to say that the [illegible] are on the street are not as [illegible] himself, and all of his big [illegible] on the [illegible] of the Ives [illegible] been in this case the Stock Exchange [illegible] of the firm, and it has been [illegible] to stand on the Exchange and to prove the failure of the Ives [illegible] by buying [illegible] they fell below a certain [illegible] In this way the City [illegible] and Dayton was [illegible] and Ives was [illegible] to borrow [illegible] in order [illegible] it.

But as to Ives himself. The [illegible] of his wonderful [illegible] is too well known to [illegible] repetition in detail. Nothing like it has been [illegible] in the history of finance, and it will [illegible] later it will be one of the great [illegible] of the Wall street of the future.

Born in [illegible], [illegible] and left an [illegible] receipt [illegible] of, he [illegible] to New York eight years ago, then only 20 years of age, and [illegible] as a boy for Harper [illegible] Here [illegible] and took [illegible] evil [illegible] ing, and I [illegible] when he became [illegible] and [illegible] one when he got a salary of $9 a week. He stayed with Harper three years, and left them to take a clerk's [illegible] in Wall street. He left this broker's [illegible], [illegible] and [illegible] of his own. His shingle [illegible] He [illegible] in millions and came [illegible] an age of [illegible] Jay Gould. The $9 a week [illegible] of late [illegible] a specialist in [illegible], now fails for from $15,000,000 to $20,000,000. Girard left only $7,500,000, the [illegible] fortunes of [illegible] Peabody, Astor and all [illegible] were [illegible] $100,000,000, and the men who are worth that amount today can be counted upon [illegible] fingers and toes.

Still Ives [illegible] for the [illegible] was [illegible] years old. The heartless boy clerks [illegible] pray [illegible] million names and outwork them.

* * *

It is the boy whom I saw taking [illegible] Astor and Dix [illegible]. Let me describe [illegible] as I [illegible] the [illegible] in his short sleeves as I [illegible] office with the [illegible] of the [illegible] for upon him. At first glance he is an [illegible] like [illegible] of the clerks of [illegible] Street in form, is not over five feet eight inches in height, his smooth shaved face looks more [illegible] than his years, and [illegible] only suggests [illegible] in the gold specs [illegible] nose. [illegible] straight up and [illegible] when [illegible] who likes themselves in the street cannot help [illegible] an hour above his own. He keeps [illegible] well dressed, and there was very pretty [illegible] just above his high and retreating [illegible] The parting of the hair is very [illegible] and there is a kink about it that makes you think that he might be of the Israelitish persuasion.

He has not, I think, however, any Jewish blood in him, and his general appearance is that of the [illegible] pure New Yankee. He is good looking, on the whole, and as to his features, the artist who [illegible] me [illegible] I saw him tells me that [illegible] Next [illegible] vision, and his face will [illegible] a passion [illegible] Every line about it [illegible] cate. The nose is straight, with the [illegible] inclination to the [illegible] nose, and the [illegible] thin and [illegible] The lips are [illegible] than thick, and there is a [illegible] cut [illegible] the [illegible] one [illegible] makes Mr. Ives [illegible] of self confidence. There is [illegible] about it, but not [illegible] talked every line about his [illegible] and, and seemed to say, I [illegible] and you may say what you [illegible] But doubtful I feel whether [illegible] words, but no [illegible] trouble as to [illegible] future.

His face has no lines of weakness [illegible] such [illegible] upon you. He has, so one of the [illegible] brokers of the street tells me, no bad habits, does not drink nor smoke [illegible] cess, and is not a fool in any way.

* * *

[illegible] that this man [illegible] Ives is a [illegible] fection and will [illegible] [illegible] If he is down town he will drop in at a [illegible] corner and [illegible] at [illegible] lunch with clerks and [illegible], not [illegible] more [illegible] about it than he did when he was a clerk himself. He will dine at [illegible] the [illegible] with [illegible], and the rest of the dinner [illegible] run into the [illegible] streets. He is as [illegible] as he was at the lunch counter, and he [illegible] has [illegible]

"Ives has," this man went on, "the most [illegible] self confidence of any man I have ever [illegible] He is the most [illegible] of men, and, notwithstanding [illegible] his [illegible] he has a [illegible] of men I look upon him as [illegible] to that class of men [illegible] manager, and [illegible] Ives has [illegible] and he has many [illegible] His religion, like that of [illegible] and he regards [illegible] only as to [illegible] Any

---

"What Do You Call Us Fakirs?"

"The Wall Street Fakirs Can't Be Beat," [illegible] he had [illegible] to [illegible] [illegible] to [illegible] [illegible] [illegible]

THE GAZETTE.

SATURDAY AUGUST [illegible] 1887

RAILROAD TIME TABLES

DENVER & RIO GRANDE RAILWAY.

[illegible]

COLORADO SPRINGS & MANITOU RY.

[illegible]

COLORADO MIDLAND RAILWAY.

[illegible]

DENVER, TEXAS & GULF RAILWAY.

[illegible]

PISTOFFICE MATTERS.

[illegible]

Mrs. Leopold Robertson left on a visit to relatives at Oakland, California, yesterday

A man was fined $10 and costs yesterday in the police magistrate's court for drunkenness.

Geo. Fechter & Son will open their clothing store in the Robertson block this morning

Mr. William Marlow has put up a substantial and tasty awning for Messrs Satterlee & Symmes

County court will convene next Monday, when a decision will be rendered in the Bates estate case

A marriage license was issued yesterday to Mr. John Killier and Mrs Molly Gier, both of this city

Mr Edward Grace, manager of the St James hotel at Denver, was among yesterday's arrivals at The Antlers

All the washouts along the line of the Midland have been repaired and trains are now running on schedule time.

There are such heavy deliveries at the Western Union telegraph office for S. W. Martin Albert D Wilson and Mrs. S. E. McIntosh.

Mr. B. B. Dodd, an extensive tie contractor, who has several tie camps scattered along the line of the Midland, was in the city yesterday

Rev. Arthur Dixon, a prominent Church worker of Cincinnati, Ohio, arrived in the city yesterday and will remain with friends.

The many friends of Mr. and Mrs. L. E. Shoemaker will regret to learn of the death of their infant daughter Ruth at Chicago, Illinois, on the 4th inst.

We are in receipt of the premium list issued by the Young Ladies' Institute of Denver, to be held in that city the fall term of which begins on September 14th

Rev. F. B. Condit, D. D., presiding elder of the Denver district will officiate at the regular quarterly conference of the Second Ave. Methodist church to-morrow

The Denver & South Park road has now reached Platte Lake, and the completion of the line to Leadville is only a matter of a few months. Trains are already running to Kenosha Hill, a point about 15 miles south of Denver.

The young people of the Baptist church have a very enjoyable time at the Red Rock last evening and extensive preparations are being made for a grand picnic at the same place next Wednesday evening.

Rev. John C. Hay, formerly the pastor of the church at Buena Vista, but who is now located at Pueblo, will preach in the Christian church to-morrow both morning and evening.

We desire to call the attention of the veterinary, who by the request of the citizens of Colorado Springs, is going to call, to the fact that the fall term begins next Wednesday.

Mr. Lewis Wood has the contract for erecting a brick and frame dwelling house on Cascade avenue for Mrs. Talbot's residence on the north east corner of Pikes Peak and Cascade avenue.

The Rt. Rev. J. [illegible] Spalding D. D. Bishop of Colorado, is making a special visitation to Grace church parish and will preach and administer the rite of confirmation on Sunday morning. The Bishop is a guest of Hon. H. A. Risley.

At the Congregational church to-morrow the annual contribution for the American board will be taken up. Persons wishing to unite with the church on confession are asked to meet the committee in the parlors to-morrow morning at half past ten o'clock.

It is stated that the Midland is compelled to within seven miles of Leadville and that trains will be run to the [illegible] this time next week. If no delay occurs in the work of construction the road will probably reach Aspen by the first of October.

The excursion of the Christian church Sunday school, which was to have taken place at Cascade Canon last Thursday, will take place next Tuesday. An enjoyable day may be spent at what has now become one of the pleasantest picnic grounds in this locality.

An important change is made in Mr. Dow's advertisement this morning to which we direct attention. Mr. Dow has lately been in the east, where he has purchased a large and finely selected stock of hats and clothing suitable for the fall and winter trade.

Nearly all the sheep men in this neighborhood are still holding their wool in anticipation of an increased demand and higher prices. We have yet to learn of a single clip that has been disposed of at a price anywhere near that obtained last year. The inactivity in wool is ascribed to the stringency of the eastern money markets

Captain J. C. Walsh, government inspector of signal stations, arrived in the city yesterday and is stopping at the Alamo. He will remain in this vicinity about a week, during which time he will visit and inspect the station on the Peak. He was in consultation with Signal Officer Sgt. Wood yesterday afternoon concerning the operations and equipments of the local station.

Mr. Geo. L. Daniels, of this city, and Miss Flora [illegible] of Stoughton, Wisconsin, were united as the [illegible] of the latter's [illegible] on the 20th inst., which was the birthday of the groom. Mr. and Mrs. Daniels will reside in Colorado Springs [illegible] and will make their permanent residence here. The many friends of Mr. Daniels in this city will extend their hearty congratulations

Several people who [illegible] out on the excursion to Las Vegas with an excursion party, [illegible] lost [illegible] Wednesday, and in the city [illegible] ing at the depot many [illegible] tion that they would rather make their stay in Colorado, in this city and Manitou. Among the prominent individuals on the excursion were ex-Governor Gilchrist of Kansas, Senator D. W. Voorhees and ex Congressman John E. [illegible] of Indiana.

Mr. E. P. Moon, of Husted, has furnished us with the following weather record for the week ending August 24: Highest temperature, 91°, on the 20th inst.; lowest temperature, 47° on the 19th inst.; highest daily mean temperature, 72°, on the 20th; lowest daily mean temperature, 57°, on the 23d; weekly temperature, 63.8°. Prevailing direction of the wind, north; clearest days 16th and 19th; cloudiest days 21st and 22d.

The Band is hard at their practice just evening, under the final selection of their uniforms. They will consist of dark blue pants, white vests, dark blue cutaway sack coats and fatigue caps. The uniforms will be trimmed with red, with gold lace, and were ordered through the firm of Daniels & White. The band will appear in them for the first time at the Odd Fellows' encampment in Denver next month. Mr. Louis Blackhoff was elected drum major of the band. About $75 are still needed to pay for the uniforms.

Mr. W. P. Caruthers, editor and manager of the Corpus Christi Caller, published at Corpus Christi, Texas, made the Gazette office a pleasant visit yesterday. He has lately visited the Pan Handle region of Texas and gives the following as his views of the Denver, Texas and Gulf railroad. This road is building to Denver at the rate of two miles a day, and will no doubt be completed early next year. It will be the best line from the great northwest to the Gulf of Mexico. It will be the thoroughfare for the grain and ores of Colorado, western Kansas and Missouri, Wyoming, Utah, Montana Idaho, in fact all of the entire northwest to deep-water shipping on the Mexican Gulf. We have the Ark-[illegible] road now connecting us with Fort Worth, and when deep water shall have been obtained at or near Corpus Christi other roads will gladly go there, and tapping the Fort Worth and Denver at or near Fort Worth will drain all the great traffic into the lap of the "City of the Sea."

Beyond washing several streets quite badly comparatively little damage was done by Wednesday's storm. The streets most effected were Weber and Costilla. The former has been washed out several times this summer, owing, it is said, to the failure of the irrigating ditches to carry off the surplus water, on account of there being no large overflow ditch on Platte avenue, where the main ditch reaches Weber street. On Costilla street the Ledge of the Denver & Santa Fe railroad over the street was filled with mud and sand so that travel under it was impossible. Street Commissioner Clark has cleaned the obstructions and the street is now in condition for travel. It is said the committee on streets and alleys will not make any extensive repairing of the streets and sidewalks until the end of the rainy season as every severe storm leaves them in about as bad condition as they were before. Dr. [illegible] proposes to put all the streets in first class order

[illegible]

[illegible]

[illegible]